Storms and Floods-More Annexations-The Admiral's Movements-German and Italian Representatives at Loggerheads.

By the Zealandia we have news from Sydney to August 7th, and from Auckland to August 12th. The items are unimportant to outsiders, and are chiefly confined to local matters.

storms have prevailed-doing more or less damage to shipping, and flooding of rivers on the coasts of New South Wales and Queensland.

H. B. M 's Ships Rapid and Calliope were at Neumea, New Caledonia; and several islands have been annexed in the South Pacific by Great Britain, and upon which had been hoisted American flags previously. The Zealandia also touched off the coast of Tutuila on August 17th, and received a mail by which Samoan files to August 10th reached this office. From these files it would appear that Admiral Kimberly expected to have left Samoa on August 15th; but he did not come by the Zealandia, for some reason not stated. The following are a few of the latest items from the Samoa Times: A dinner will be given to Admiral Kimberly at the Tivoli Hotel on Wednesday next, the 14th inst. A large number of tickets have already been applied for, and the Tivoli room will be well filled. We understand that a similar compliment is awaiting the Admiral at Honolulu, for which place he leaves

War again, yet no dollars flying about War between two great Powers, commenced in Apia, yet in which we can take no hand! The news is indeed startling. Germany and Italy are at loggerheads. Angry words have pa-sed, blows have been exchanged between representatives of the two great Powers. The Consul of Italy has been struck whilst in his official uniform by a bloated capitalist of Apia! Shades of Garabaldi! Was it for this the red shirts poured out their blood in their endeavor to free Italy? Did Cayour scheme in vain? Italy's official representative, in his uniform, struck by a German! All Rome must shudder at the thought. Perhaps some of our readers were quite unaware that such a mighty being as an Italian Consul existed in Samoa. But it is so. He is a man of means and of mark. And also, as he has narrated to admiring auditors in the highways of beer drink ing, he is a man of muscle. He smote the German in return. But the insult to the uniform must be avenged. Rome and Berlin must settle it! There are other rumors on the beach of robberies and attempted robberies. Matafele seems an especially unfortu-nate locality in this respect. We do not believe in all these outrages. The lively imagination of the stranger multiplies them. Yet if there were a few robberies it might more thoughoughly impress our foreign population with the desirability of contributing toward the support of lataafa's poli

Apia without any form of government at present is yet a model community, as tar as law and order are concerned. Life and property are saler here than in the Colonies. This is owing to the conduct of Mataala's followers and the impartiality of the magistrate he appointed to rule the affairs of the municipality.
